Emily Stedman, Co-chair Young Lawyers Conference Planning Committee

9:30 AM      Young Lawyers Conference Keynote Presentation: How Young Lawyers Can Help Shape the Delivery of Legal Services

Atty. Chad Burton, CuroLegal LLC, Beaver creek, OH

A lot of lip service is paid to the notion that young lawyers are the "future of the profession." But, what does this really mean? This talk will address where the profession is headed in general, and how young lawyers can help shape it. High-level concepts will be covered, as well as specific action items that attendees can take away regarding the use of technology in practice, online marketing trends and cyber security needs.

11:00 AM      Break

11:10 AM      Legal Research using Fastcase and Books UnBound

Atty. Tison Rhine, Manager, Law Office Management Assistance Program, State Bar of Wisconsin, Madison

Learn how to effectively and efficiently utilize Fastcase and Books Unbound in your due diligence research. Fastcase offers (as a State Bar of Wisconsin member benefit) unlimited online legal research through its comprehensive 50-state and federal case law database. The database includes coverage of the federal appellate courts, bankruptcy courts, the U.S. Supreme Court as well as Wisconsin statutes, administrative code, and case law. Books UnBound is an interactive online library of secondary law which contains links to primary law via Fastcase.

Noon              Lunch

12:25 PM      G. Lane Ware Keynote Leadership Address: Globalization and the U.S. Law Practice

Frank Steeves, Portfolio General Counsel, New York, NY

Technology and communication have revolutionized our world and transformed us from isolated communities into one of the most interconnected in the history of our existence. This shift has led to a transformation in law to a more globalized approach. Hear why U.S.-trained lawyers are uniquely situated to practice in this globalized legal environment, and why your legal education puts you in a great position to think beyond boundaries into vast and expanding opportunities.
