

About the Authors

Melinda A. Bialzik is a shareholder with the Milwaukee law firm of Kohner, Mann & Kailas, S.C., focusing on business and commercial litigation and estate planning. She is a member of the Thomas E. Fairchild Chapter of the American Inns of Court and has served as a committee chair and member of the board of the Eastern District of Wisconsin Bar Association.

Ryan M. Billings is a partner and deputy chair of litigation with the Milwaukee law firm of Kohner, Mann & Kailas, S.C., and concentrates his practice in complex litigation, representing business entities in civil litigation, appeals, and alternative dispute resolution. He was an editor and officer of the Harvard Law Review, has served as the Seventh Circuit Correspondent for the American Bar Association Business Torts and Unfair Competition Committee for many years, and is a member of the Thomas E. Fairchild Chapter of the American Inns of Court. Mr. Billings began his career in New York and represents clients throughout the nation and internationally. He recently successfully represented a class of Wisconsin businesses in an appeal to the U.S. Supreme Court and a Wisconsin business in a successful appeal to the Wisconsin Supreme Court that will likely have far-reaching implications for the development of Wisconsin discovery law.

Donald A. Daugherty, Jr., is senior counsel for the Wisconsin Institute for Law & Liberty. He previously was a shareholder with the Milwaukee office of Godfrey & Kahn, S.C., where his practice included representation of hospitals and other health-care providers, information technology services companies and their customers, internet retailers and other e-commerce businesses, manufacturers, insurers, and financial institutions and other lenders. Mr. Daugherty received his B.A. from the University of Virginia and his J.D. from Northwestern University Law School. He served as law clerk to the Honorable Roger J. Miner of the U.S. Court of Appeals for the Second Circuit. He served on the Governor's Judicial Selection Advisory Committee from 2011 to 2018 and as a court commissioner for two Milwaukee County Circuit Court judges.

Alec Dobson is a member of the litigation and health care practice groups in the Milwaukee office of Davis|Kuelthau, s.c. He represents nursing homes, hospitals, and other providers of health care and long-term care in litigation and regulatory matters. He earned his J.D. from the University of Wisconsin Law School and his undergraduate degree from Marquette University. Before practicing law he was a newspaper journalist.

Timothy W. Feeley is a shareholder at the Milwaukee office of Hall, Render, Killian, Heath & Lyman, P.C., a national law firm with offices in Anchorage, Annapolis, Dallas, Denver, Detroit, Indianapolis, Milwaukee, Raleigh, Seattle, and Washington, D.C. He received his B.A. (cum laude) from Marquette University in 1989 and his J.D. (cum laude) from Marquette University Law School in 1992. He served as a judicial law clerk for the Wisconsin Court of Appeals from 1992 to 1994. He is licensed to practice in federal and state courts in Michigan, Minnesota, Wisconsin, and Wyoming. Mr. Feeley's practice involves the representation of health-care clients, including hospitals, physician groups, nursing homes, and other licensed health-care professionals with regard to health-care regulatory issues; qui tam actions and complaints filed under the False Claims Act; ERISA; labor and employment matters; insurance; medical staff disputes and bylaws; and issues relating to employees' post-termination restrictive covenants.

Robert L. Gegios is a shareholder with the Milwaukee law firm of Kohner, Mann & Kailas, S.C., and concentrates his practice in business and commercial litigation, alternative dispute resolution, and general counseling in national and international settings. He is a former president of the Eastern District of Wisconsin Bar Association and of the Thomas E. Fairchild Chapter of the American Inns of Court and a former Wisconsin co-chair of the Fellows of the American Bar Foundation. Mr. Gegios has held numerous leadership positions within the American Bar Association and other professional organizations.

Robert L. Jaskulski is a shareholder with Habush Habush & Rottier S.C., practicing in Milwaukee, Waukesha, and West Bend. He received his B.A. (magna cum laude) from the University of Wisconsin-Milwaukee in 1985. He graduated cum laude from Marquette University Law School in 1988. He is a member of the State Bar of Wisconsin, for which he served as chair of the Litigation Section board; the Milwaukee Bar Association; and the American Association for Justice, for which he serves on the board of governors. He is also an Associate of the American Board of Trial Advocates and a Fellow in the International Society of Barristers. He is a member and on the board of the Wisconsin Association for Justice, for which he served as president in 2007. He has been certified as a Civil Trial Specialist by the National Board of Trial Advocacy. He is a frequent lecturer throughout Wisconsin on the subject of trial advocacy and is the author of the chapter on jury selection in Wisconsin Trial Practice (State Bar of Wis. 4th ed. 2019) and the chapter on physical, mental, and vocational examinations in Melinda Bialzik et al., Wisconsin Discovery Law and Practice (State Bar of Wis. 5th ed. 2017 & Supp.).

David E. McFarlane is a shareholder in Bell, Moore & Richter, S.C., Madison, where he practices in medical malpractice defense, civil litigation, insurance defense, and employment defense. He received his B.S. from the University of Wisconsin and his J.D. (with honors) from the University of Wisconsin Law School. Mr. McFarlane's primary area of practice is the defense of complex medical malpractice cases and business litigation in which expert witnesses play a key role. He is a member of the Dane County Bar Association, the Defense Research Institute, and the State Bar of Wisconsin, and he is admitted to practice before the U.S. District Courts for the Eastern and Western Districts of Wisconsin and the U.S. Court of Appeals for the Seventh Circuit.

Deborah C. Meiners is a partner in the Madison office of DeWitt LLP, practicing litigation in complex commercial, insurance coverage, transportation, real estate, and construction matters. Ms. Meiners received her undergraduate degree with distinction from the University of Wisconsin-Madison in 2004 and received both her M.A. in history and a J.D., magna cum laude, Order of the Coif, from the University of Wisconsin in 2008. She is admitted to practice in Wisconsin state courts, in the U.S. District Courts for the Eastern and Western Districts of Wisconsin, and before the U.S. Courts of Appeals for the Seventh, Eighth, and Ninth Circuits.

Chelsey B. Metcalf is a former associate with Foley & Lardner LLP in its business litigation and dispute resolution practice group. She is a 2015 graduate of the University of Wisconsin Law School.

Shane T. Roeber is a former member of the litigation and health-care practice groups in the Brookfield office of Davis & Kuelthau, s.c., and has represented nursing homes and other providers of long-term care in litigation matters. He earned his J.D. from Marquette University Law School and his undergraduate degree from Ripon College. He also previously supported the legal team at Brookdale Senior Living.

Matthew Stippich is a principal, general counsel, and president of professional services for Digital Intelligence, a provider of digital forensic and e-discovery services, training, and equipment. He advises on, implements, and performs strategies relating to electronically stored information (ESI) for a wide range of clients, and he focuses on managing costs associated with the preservation, searching, and production of ESI in litigation as well as for internal investigations. Mr. Stippich works extensively with corporate legal and IT teams to develop proactive best practices for managing ESI issues associated with litigation, employment, and security events. Past projects have included developing and implementing ESI strategies in response to U.S. Securities & Exchange Commission and U.S. Department of Justice investigations of potential violations of the Foreign Corrupt Practices Act in more than 40 countries. Mr. Stippich frequently writes and speaks on topics related to e-discovery and digital forensics. He is an adjunct professor of law at Marquette University Law School, where he teaches a class on electronic discovery and digital evidence. He is also a partner in the Milwaukee-based law firm of Stippich Selin & Cain. Mr. Stippich received his J.D. from Marquette University and his undergraduate degree from Grinnell College.

Barret V. Van Sicklen is the co-chair of the litigation practice group at DeWitt LLP. Barret has a diverse practice, focusing primarily on complex business disputes and labor and employment litigation. Barret provides skilled representation to his clients in state and federal courts, as well as before various administrative agencies. He has handled a wide array of general commercial litigation matters. He assists companies with the diverse and evolving legal problems they may face, including shareholder and partnership disputes, contract issues, indemnification, collecting on unpaid accounts, landlord-tenant matters, theft of company information, and insurance coverage issues. His labor and employment practice consists primarily of representing employers in hiring, firing, wage and hour, and discrimination litigation and working with employers to develop best practices to avoid such disputes. He has significant experience litigating the enforceability of noncompetition, nonsolicitation, and confidentiality agreements. Barret is admitted to practice in Wisconsin, as well as the Eastern and Western Districts of Wisconsin and before the U.S. Court of Appeals for the Seventh Circuit. He received his B.A. from the University of Chicago and his law degree from the University of Wisconsin.

Past Authors

Richard L. Bolton

Marilyn M. Carroll

James R. Cole

Robert B. Corris

Stephen A. DiTullio

Merrick R. Domnitz

Margaret Grabowski

Jeffrey A. Kaczmarek

Jennifer J. Kopp

Mark M. Leitner

John W. Markson

Deborah K. Scheid

Sheila M. Sullivan

Stephen D.R. Taylor

Mark S. Young

