

About the Authors

Corey F. Finkelmeyer is an assistant attorney general and the deputy administrator of the Division of Legal Services at the Wisconsin Department of Justice. He also is chair of the Wisconsin Claims Board. As part of his duties, Mr. Finkelmeyer supervises the defense of lawsuits brought against the state and its employees and personally represents the state and its employees in major litigation. He received his B.A. with distinction and his J.D. cum laude, both from the University of Wisconsin. He is a member of the State Bar of Wisconsin and is admitted to practice in the Western and Eastern Districts of Wisconsin and the Fifth and Seventh Circuit Courts of Appeals.

Samuel C. Hall, Jr. is a shareholder and director at Crivello Carlson, S.C., Milwaukee. He received his bachelor's degree and law degree from Marquette University. During law school, Mr. Hall was a St. Thomas More Scholar for three years and a member of the Marquette Sports Law Review. His principal practice focuses on civil rights litigation and appellate practice. He has successfully defended hundreds of governmental officials, law enforcement officers, and municipalities in cases involving alleged civil rights violations. Mr. Hall is admitted to practice and has defended law enforcement officers in high-profile cases in Wisconsin, Illinois, Kentucky, and New York state courts, the U.S. Supreme Court, the Third Circuit Court of Appeals, the Fifth Circuit Court of Appeals, the Seventh Circuit Court of Appeals, and federal district courts in Wisconsin, Illinois, New York, Texas, and Pennsylvania. Based on his experience in defending law enforcement officers, he has been a keynote speaker and lecturer for many law enforcement organizations and was also an instructor for a master's level course offered by the University of Wisconsin for law enforcement command staff.

Timothy M. Johnson is a shareholder with Crivello Carlson, S.C. and manages the firm's Eau Claire office. He has successfully tried cases on behalf of municipalities and municipal officials and employees in state and federal courts and has successfully represented municipal clients before state and federal appellate courts. He frequently presents to industry groups and clients on civil rights, municipal, insurance, reinsurance, and evidentiary issues. Mr. Johnson is a member of the Amicus Curiae Committee of Wisconsin Defense Counsel.

Jennifer Sloan Lattis is the deputy general counsel for the University of Wisconsin System. From 1989 to 2010, she worked as an assistant attorney general for the Wisconsin Department of Justice, focusing in civil litigation. Ms. Lattis received her J.D. from the University of Wisconsin Law School in 1989.

MaryNell Regan has spent the majority of her legal career working for governments and in public service. She received her law degree from Marquette University in 1994 and was an associate editor on the Marquette Law Review. After several years in private practice, she joined the city of Milwaukee as an assistant city attorney, and for 3 of those 18 years, she served as the executive director of the Milwaukee Fire and Police Commission. Thereafter, she has worked with Milwaukee County's Office of Corporation Counsel and the Milwaukee Area Domestic Animal Control Commission on projects. She is a member of the State Bar of Wisconsin, has represented government lawyers by serving on the Government Lawyers Division board, and currently serves as a senior policy advisor for the national nonprofit Forward Latino.

David G. Ress is a shareholder at Bell, Moore & Richter, S.C., Madison, where he practices in civil litigation, insurance defense, business litigation, civil appeals, and worker's compensation. He received his B.A. degree from the University of Wisconsin-Madison and his J.D. degree from Marquette University (cum laude). Mr. Ress is a member of the State Bar of Wisconsin and the Dane County Bar Association and a board member of Wisconsin Defense Counsel. He is admitted to practice in Wisconsin and before the U.S. District Courts for the Eastern and Western Districts of Wisconsin. Mr. Ress is a contributing author to the State Bar of Wisconsin's Anderson on Wisconsin Insurance Law, The Law of Damages in Wisconsin, and Wisconsin Governmental Claims and Immunities Handbook. He lives in the Madison area with his wife and three daughters.

John M. Vandlik is a senior counsel with the Milwaukee office of the U.S. Department of Agriculture (USDA), Office of the General Counsel. He provides legal services to the USDA, advising the Forest Service on natural resource and environmental law issues relating to national forest management. He received his undergraduate degree from the University of Illinois and his law degree from the Illinois Institute of Technology, Chicago-Kent College of Law. He has authored articles for the Public Administration Review and the Fordham Environmental Law Journal. The views expressed in this book by Mr. Vandlik are his own and do not necessarily reflect those of the USDA or the Office of the General Counsel.
