

About the Authors

Corey F. Finkelmeyer is an internal consultant at the University of Wisconsin-Oshkosh. Prior to his current position, Mr. Finkelmeyer was an assistant attorney general for 24 years. He was also the chair of the Wisconsin Claims Board for 10 years. As part of his duties as an assistant attorney general, Mr. Finkelmeyer supervised the defense of lawsuits brought against the state and its employees and personally represented the state and its employees in major litigation. He received his B.A. with distinction and his J.D. cum laude, both from the University of Wisconsin. He is a member of the State Bar of Wisconsin and is admitted to practice in the U.S. District Courts for the Western and Eastern Districts of Wisconsin and the Fifth and Seventh Circuit Courts of Appeals.

Timothy M. Johnson is a shareholder with Crivello, Nichols & Hall, S.C. and manages the firm's Eau Claire office. He has successfully tried cases on behalf of municipalities and municipal officials and employees in state and federal courts and has successfully represented municipal clients before state and federal appellate courts. He frequently presents to industry groups and clients on civil rights, municipal, insurance, reinsurance, and evidentiary issues. Mr. Johnson is a member of the Amicus Curiae Committee of Wisconsin Defense Counsel and the American Board of Trial Advocates.

Jennifer Sloan Lattis is the deputy general counsel for the University of Wisconsin System. From 1989 to 2010, she worked as an assistant attorney general for the Wisconsin Department of Justice, focusing on civil litigation. Ms. Lattis received her J.D. from the University of Wisconsin Law School in 1989.

MaryNell Regan has spent the majority of her legal career working for governments and in public service. She received her law degree from Marquette University in 1994 and was an associate editor on the Marquette Law Review. After several years in private practice representing municipalities, she joined the city of Milwaukee as an assistant city attorney, was promoted to executive director of the Fire & Police Commission, and Mayoral cabinet member. Thereafter, she worked with Milwaukee County's Office of Corporation Counsel and the Milwaukee Area Domestic Animal Control Commission. She is a member of the State

Bar of Wisconsin, has represented government lawyers by serving on the Government Lawyers Division board, and served as a senior policy advisor for the national nonprofit Forward Latino.

David G. Ress is a shareholder at Bell, Moore & Richter, S.C., Madison, where he practices in civil litigation, insurance defense, business litigation, and civil appeals. He received his B.A. degree from the University of Wisconsin-Madison and his J.D. degree from Marquette University (cum laude). Mr. Ress is a member of the State Bar of Wisconsin and the Dane County Bar Association. He is admitted to practice in Wisconsin and before the U.S. District Courts for the Eastern and Western Districts of Wisconsin. Mr. Ress has contributed to the State Bar of Wisconsin's Anderson on Wisconsin Insurance Law, The Law of Damages in Wisconsin, and Wisconsin Governmental Claims and Immunities Handbook. He lives in the Madison area with his wife and three daughters.

John M. Vandlik is retired from the position of senior counsel with the Milwaukee office of the U.S. Department of Agriculture (USDA), Office of the General Counsel, where he worked for 33 years. He provided legal services to the USDA, advising the Forest Service on natural resource and environmental law issues relating to national forest management. He received his undergraduate degree from the University of Illinois and his law degree from the Illinois Institute of Technology, Chicago-Kent College of Law. He has authored articles for the Public Administration Review and the Fordham Environmental Law Journal. The views expressed in this book by Mr. Vandlik are his own and do not necessarily reflect those of the USDA or the Office of the General Counsel.
