

About the Authors

Ralph C. Anzivino is a professor of law at Marquette University Law School. Professor Anzivino has practiced and teaches in the areas of contracts, Uniform Commercial Code (UCC), and creditor-debtor rights, including bankruptcy. He is a 1972 graduate of Case Western Reserve Law School, where he was a member of the Order of the Coif, and a member of both the Case Western Review Law Review and the Moot Court Board. In addition to having written numerous law review articles and bar journal publications, Professor Anzivino is author of the book Partner and Partnership Bankruptcy. He also is coauthor of the four-volume treatise Uniform Commercial Code Transactions Guide and coauthor of the multivolume set Uniform Commercial Code Series. Currently, Professor Anzivino is co-chair of the UCC Committee of the State Bar of Wisconsin's Business Section.

David I. Cisar is a shareholder with von Briesen & Roper s.c. His practice focuses on the Uniform Commercial Code (UCC), financial institutions, commercial transactions (including financial workouts and restructurings), and corporate law. In addition to being a member of the State Bar of Wisconsin and the Milwaukee Bar Association, he is a member of the American Bar Association (UCC and Commercial Financial Services Committees) and the American Bankruptcy Institute.

Timothy S. Crisp is a partner with Holland & Hart LLP, currently practicing in its offices in Denver, Colorado; Salt Lake City, Utah; and Santa Fe, New Mexico. He regularly practices in the areas of secured and unsecured loan transactions, loan workouts, and consumer financial regulation. Mr. Crisp previously was a partner with the Madison offices of Foley & Lardner LLP and Michael Best & Friedrich LLP and an associate with the Chicago office of Winston & Strawn. He received his J.D. in 1990 from Duke Law School and his B.A. in 1987 from Yale University. He has written articles and has given presentations before state, regional, and national audiences of attorneys and bankers on the Uniform Commercial Code, commercial loan documentation, loan workouts, consumer financial regulation, and corporate transactions.

Catherine L. Davies is a shareholder in the Business Law and International Departments of Reinhart Boerner Van Deuren s.c. Ms.

Davies received her undergraduate degree in accounting from Marquette University and her law degree from the University of Michigan, where she served on the Journal of Law Reform. She also is a member of the firm's multidisciplinary Product Distribution and Franchise Law Team. Ms. Davies serves a wide range of domestic and foreign clients including manufacturers, distributors, and service providers. Highly experienced in international and domestic transactions, Ms. Davies counsels clients and prepares documentation for purchase and sale transactions, joint ventures, distributor and sales representative agreements, and other commercial issues. She has a great deal of experience with dealership laws, including the Wisconsin Fair Dealership Act, and similar domestic and international laws affecting product distribution, sales representatives, and franchising. She also advises on corporate structuring and purchases and sales of businesses and helps her clients navigate complex export licensing requirements, import regulations, competition laws, and other trade regulations.

Shane Delsman is a shareholder in the Intellectual Property and Technology & Digital Business practice groups of Godfrey & Kahn, S.C. with experience in litigating and prosecuting patents, trademarks, copyrights, and trade secrets. He also regularly supports complex mergers and acquisitions involving intellectual property assets. Mr. Delsman has held leadership roles in several organizations, including American Bar Association committees, divisions, and sections; the Eastern District of Wisconsin Bar Association; and the Richard Linn American Inn of Courts, and he also is a past president of the Wisconsin Intellectual Property Law Association. Mr. Delsman earned his J.D. and B.S. in civil engineering from the University of Wisconsin.

Adam R. Konrad is a shareholder in Reinhart Boerner Van Deuren s.c.'s corporate law, international, and tax groups, with a focus on mergers, acquisitions, and joint ventures. He devotes a significant part of his practice to advising German businesses in connection with their investment in or expansion of operations in the United States and, as part of a Robert Bosch Foundation Fellowship, has also completed work stages with the Bundeszentralamt für Steuern/German Federal Central Tax Office and the Berlin offices of a large international law firm. Mr. Konrad received his J.D. and an LL.M. in international and comparative law from Cornell Law School and his undergraduate degree from the University of Wisconsin-Madison. He is a frequent presenter on a variety of topics relating to cross-border business and international tax planning.

Michael C. Lueder is a partner at Hansen Reynolds LLC. His practice is concentrated in several areas, including banking, class action, Uniform Commercial Code, employment, and consumer litigation. He is a former chair of Foley & Lardner's Consumer Financial Services Practice. Mr. Lueder has also served as chief litigation counsel for one of the largest banks in the country. In 2014, Mr. Lueder was chosen as the Pro Bono Attorney of the Year by the State Bar of Wisconsin for his work helping an abused child. Mr. Lueder received his J.D., cum laude, in 1987 from Indiana University School of Law, where he served on the editorial staff of the Indiana Law Journal. He graduated from DePauw University (B.A., political science) in 1984. He has served as an adjunct faculty member, teaching consumer law, at the Marquette University Law School.

Robert J. Misy, Jr. is a shareholder with the law firm of Reinhart Boerner Van Deuren s.c. in Milwaukee. Mr. Misy concentrates his practice in the areas of international taxation, transfer pricing, and tax controversies. He previously worked as an attorney with the IRS Chief Counsel (International) in Washington, D.C. and San Jose, California. Mr. Misy received his Master of Laws degree, with high distinction, from Georgetown University, where he was the graduate student editor of The Tax Lawyer, and his Juris Doctor and Master of Business Administration degrees from Vanderbilt University. He is the current chair of the American Bar Association's International Tax Committee. Mr. Misy is the author of the treatise A Practical Guide to U.S. Taxation of International Transactions. He is a native of Milwaukee.

Amy M. Salberg practices with Salberg Tuffnell Law SC, Milwaukee, focusing on areas including commercial and business litigation, ERISA and insurance litigation, consumer financial services, and employment law. She previously operated Salberg Law Firm and before that was a shareholder at Whyte Hirschboeck Dudek S.C., where she practiced from 2000 to 2012. She began her legal career at the Wisconsin Department of Financial Institutions in its Consumer Credit Division from 1998 to 2000. She earned her B.A. from the University of Wisconsin-Madison and her J.D. from the University of Wisconsin Law School. Ms. Salberg is a member of the State Bar of Wisconsin's Bankruptcy, Insolvency & Creditors' Rights, Business Law, and Solo Small Firm & General Practice Sections and the American Bar Association. Ms. Salberg has authored numerous articles and has spoken before national audiences on various consumer finance topics.

Andrew J. Wronski is a partner, trial lawyer, and vice chair of the Litigation Department at Foley & Lardner LLP, Milwaukee. He focuses on complex litigation and trial work, representing corporate clients involved in sophisticated, high-stakes commercial and financial disputes. His litigation and trial experience covers a wide array of commercial and financial disputes, including complex financial fraud, RICO, shareholder class actions, banking and finance, post-closing disputes (including purchase-price and working capital adjustments), commercial loan enforcement and workouts, insolvency-related litigation, the Uniform Commercial Code, federal and state securities laws, and other sophisticated commercial and financial matters. He is a member of the firm's Business Litigation & Dispute Resolution and Consumer Financial Services Litigation Practices and regularly presents on issues involving trial advocacy, RICO, lender liability, and workout and insolvency-related litigation issues. Mr. Wronski received his bachelor's degree, magna cum laude, from Marquette University in 1991. His J.D. degree was conferred, summa cum laude, in 1994 by the University of Minnesota, where he was elected to the Order of the Coif and was an articles editor of the Minnesota Law Review.

Authors of Previous Edition

Jamila S. Covington
Rebecca G. Bradley
Masud Khan
Nicole J. Renouard
Mark C. Young