

About the Authors

Sara K. Beachy is a former Assistant Attorney General with the Wisconsin Department of Justice and a current partner at Axley Brynelson, LLP, in Madison. She is a member of the firm's Litigation and Construction & Transportation Practice Groups and represents both condemnors and landowners. She received her undergraduate and law degrees, with honors, from the University of Wisconsin. A self-proclaimed eminent domain geek, she writes and presents regularly on condemnation law issues and edits the condemnation blog www.thepreeminentdomain.com.

Richard W. Donner is a shareholder in the Real Estate Practice at Reinhart Boerner Van Deuren s.c. He regularly speaks to real estate professionals, students, and trade organizations on a range of real estate related topics and is a coauthor of Condemnation Law and Practice in Wisconsin and Title Insurance and Closing Protection Letters, chapter 7 of Commercial Real Estate Transactions in Wisconsin, both published by the State Bar of Wisconsin. He received his undergraduate degree, with distinction, from the University of Wisconsin-Madison and his law degree from Brooklyn Law School. He is a member of the State Bars of New York and Wisconsin.

Micheal D. Hahn is a trial attorney at Nowlan Law LLP, with a focus on construction, business, and regulatory matters. Before law school, he served in the Wisconsin Army National Guard as a transportation sergeant and worked as a safety and training manager in the utility construction industry. He received both his undergraduate degree and law degree from the University of Wisconsin, and he clerked for Justice Michael J. Gableman of the Wisconsin Supreme Court.

John M. Van Lieshout is a shareholder in the Real Estate, Environmental, and Litigation Practices at Reinhart Boerner Van Deuren s.c. He is a graduate of Marquette University, where he received both his undergraduate degree, magna cum laude, and his law degree. He has written and spoken extensively on real estate law and eminent domain issues.
