

About the Authors

---

Lead author

Nathaniel S. Hammons is a Clinical Professor of Law and Director of the Law and Entrepreneurship Clinic at Marquette University Law School. The clinic, which Professor Hammons launched, provides pro bono legal services to start-up businesses and entrepreneurs in southeastern Wisconsin, with a focus on clients who lack access to the traditional legal marketplace. Professor Hammons also teaches upper-level business law courses at Marquette University Law School. Professor Hammons graduated from the University of Wyoming with a bachelor's degree in zoology. He received a Master of Arts in philosophy from Boston University Graduate School of Arts & Sciences and a Juris Doctor, cum laude, from Boston University School of Law. Professor Hammons is a member of the State Bar of Wisconsin and active in Wisconsin's entrepreneurial ecosystem, regularly presenting on legal issues impacting new businesses. Professor Hammons was a recipient of the Wisconsin Lawyer Legal Innovator award in 2022.

Other contributing authors

Joseph W. Boucher co-founded and chairs the board of Neider & Boucher, S.C., where his practice emphasizes business legal planning for closely held businesses. Mr. Boucher received his B.A. from St. Norbert College and his J.D. and M.B.A. from the University of Wisconsin Law School and is a certified public accountant. He taught business law at the University of Wisconsin–Madison School of Business for over 35 years and has spoken numerous times for professional associations. He served on the State Bar of Wisconsin subcommittee that helped draft 2021 Wis. Act 258, which, among other matters, updated Wisconsin's limited liability company (LLC) law in 2022. He chaired the State Bar Subcommittee on LLCs, was a codrafter of Wis. Stat. ch. 183 for LLCs, and participated in the drafting of the limited liability partnership law. He is a co-author of Organizing a Wisconsin Business Corporation (State Bar of Wis. 6th ed. 2022) and LLCs and LLPs: A Wisconsin Handbook (State Bar of Wis. 8th ed. 2023). He has also co-authored several articles in the State Bar's Wisconsin Lawyer and the Wisconsin Institute of Certified Public Accountants' On Balance.

Joseph A. Camilli is a shareholder in the Milwaukee office of von Briesen & Roper, s.c., practicing in the firm's business group. He provides business counsel to corporations, limited liability companies, partnerships, and individuals regarding corporate, finance, employment, and merger and acquisition issues. He graduated from Marquette University with a bachelor's degree in history and economics, as well as a Master of Science in applied economics. He received his law degree from the Hamline University School of Law. Mr. Camilli is a member of the State Bar of Wisconsin and enjoys mentoring start-up business ventures and working with closely held companies on the various challenges and opportunities they encounter, particularly around business succession issues. He assisted with Wisconsin's passage of the Revised Uniform Limited Liability Company Act, among other statutory updates, in 2022, and co-authored several chapters of LLCs and LLPs: A Wisconsin Handbook (State Bar of Wis. 8th ed. 2023).

Julijana L. Englander is an attorney at Neider & Boucher, S.C., where her practice areas include business, employment, and contract law, real estate, mergers and acquisitions, and business litigation. Ms. Englander received her B.A. from Duke University and her J.D. from the University of Wisconsin Law School. Prior to entering law school, Ms. Englander worked at an AdTech start-up and as a consultant in regulatory affairs where she developed and implemented legislative and advocacy campaigns. As a consultant, Ms. Englander's work for start-ups, companies, foundations, and non-profits took her anywhere from New York to the Bay Area and from Delaware to Lake Como.

West A. Foster is an attorney at Scholz Nonprofit Law, where he represents cooperatives, land trusts, nonprofits, affordable housing developers, and small businesses. Before joining the firm, Mr. Foster interned for Chief Judge James D. Peterson at the U.S. District Court for the Western District of Wisconsin and advised cooperatives, farmers, and rural entrepreneurs through the University of Wisconsin's Rural Entrepreneurship Program. Mr. Foster earned his B.A. in Philosophy and Environmental Science from Tufts University and his J.D. (Order of the Coif) from the University of Wisconsin Law School.

Jessica Y. Harrison is an attorney with Scholz Nonprofit Law, Madison, which she joined in 2010. She focuses her practice on serving nonprofits, from initial planning through dissolution. Before joining the firm, Ms. Harrison clerked for Judge Barbara Crabb of the U.S. District Court for the Western District of Wisconsin and worked for the East Asian Legal Studies Center at the University of Wisconsin Law School. She received an undergraduate degree from Duke University, a master's degree in French literature from the University of Wisconsin–Madison, and a law degree from the University of Wisconsin Law School.

Craig B. Miller is a shareholder and head of the business practice group at Neider & Boucher, S.C., in Madison. He provides business counsel to corporations, limited liability companies, and individuals regarding general corporate matters, finance, merger and acquisition issues as well as commercial real estate. He graduated from University of Wisconsin–Madison with a bachelor's degree in English literature. He received his law degree as well as his Master of Business Administration from the Suffolk University Law School and Suffolk University Sawyer Business School, respectively. Mr. Miller is a member of the State Bar of Wisconsin and enjoys advising business clients from start-up ventures to business exit events and everything in between.

Melissa Auchard Scholz is the founder of Scholz Nonprofit Law, which she started in 2007 to provide practical legal and strategic advice to nonprofits. She and her colleagues serve nonprofits and mission driven business of all sizes and types, ranging from small community-based organizations to statewide affordable housing providers, large national advocacy organizations, cooperatives, land trusts, and various kinds of businesses (usually with a connection to a nonprofit). Before starting the firm, Ms. Scholz worked in the corporate, tax, healthcare, and political law practices at a large Wisconsin-based law firm. She received her B.A. from Stanford University in 1985 and her J.D. (cum laude, Order of the Coif) from the University of Wisconsin Law School in 1995.