73rd Annual Tax School

Co-produced with the Taxation Law Section of the State Bar of Wisconsin

Time to tackle taxes

Designed to keep you on top of recent developments in taxation law, the 73rd Annual Tax School is packed with insights on current and future tax trends. In addition to state and federal updates, an experienced slate of practitioners will cover in-depth the tax ramifications of Wisconsin's new business entity laws and emerging issues in property tax.

You'll get a crash course in everything you need to know about the taxation of virtual assets like cryptocurrency and non-fungible tokens (NFTs). Plus, you'll explore the latest dynamics in tax practice procedure and ethical considerations you must be aware of to protect your clients and your practice.

How you'll benefit:

- Anticipate the impact Wisconsin's new business entity laws will have on your business clients
- Compare and contrast the types of entity-level taxation in Wisconsin
- Explore property tax topics from municipal and commercial property perspectives
- Assess how tax authorities analyze and treat crypto and virtual assets for taxation
- Get insight on the latest state and federal tax updates

Who should attend:

- Taxation attorneys
- Business attorneys
- General practitioners
