Annual Constitutional Law Symposium 2025

The Symposium is in session

The Annual Constitutional Law Symposium 2025 delivers a comprehensive review of the year's most pressing constitutional disputes. Examine voting rights challenges, the constitutionality of nationwide injunctions, and the Court's use of the "shadow docket." You'll also explore rulings on homelessness ordinances, executive orders, and privacy rights. Come away with the knowledge to turn recent developments into effective advocacy.

HOW YOU'LL BENEFIT

- Gain practical context for advising clients on real-time and emerging constitutional questions
- Anticipate how shifts in precedent may influence government policies and enforcement
- Stay on top of constitutional developments affecting privacy, voting rights, and the use of public spaces
- Hear perspectives on the current Supreme Court's voting patterns, trends, and results
- Assess the enforceability of executive actions and the likelihood of nationwide injunctions disrupting them
- Discuss proposed amendments aimed at removing constitutional protections for corporations

Attend the Annual Constitutional Law Symposium 2025 and discover how today's constitutional rulings will shape tomorrow's strategies. Register now!
