About the Authors

Gregory A. Pitts was born and raised in Racine, Wisconsin, where he is a partner in private practice with Schoone, Leuck, Kelley, Pitts & Pitts, S.C. His main areas of practice are worker's compensation and personal injury, representing injured workers and tort victims. He is licensed to practice law in Wisconsin (2003) and Illinois (2004). He is a member of the American Bar Association, the State Bar of Wisconsin, the State Bar of Illinois, the Wisconsin Association of Workers Compensation Attorneys (director, 2015–20), and the Racine County Bar Association. Pitts earned his B.B.A. degree in finance, investments, and banking from the University of Wisconsin–Madison and his J.D. degree from the University of Illinois Chicago School of Law (formerly John Marshall Law School). He has served on the State Bar of Wisconsin's board of governors (2013–15). Pitts has successfully argued two cases before the Wisconsin Supreme Court, including one worker's compensation case.

Samuel H. Weinberg is the deputy director at the Division of Hearing and Appeals–Office of Worker's Compensation Hearings. Before joining the division as an administrative law judge, he was a worker's compensation defense attorney at Aplin & Ringsmuth, LLC, where he represented insurers and self-insured employers throughout the state. Prior to moving to Milwaukee for law school, Mr. Weinberg was a resident of Cincinnati, Ohio, where he was a writer and editor for a local newspaper.
