About the Supplement Authors

Ben Gonring graduated with high honors from the University of Notre Dame in May 1993, earning a B.A. in government. He received his J.D. from the University of Wisconsin Law School, graduating with honors in December 1995. Admitted to the State Bar of Wisconsin in January 1996, began working for the Wisconsin State Public Defenders (SPD) in June of the same year. He was honored with the agency's Outstanding Achievement Award in November 1997. In 2005, he was given Dane County's Competency Builder Award, presented for "years of service and dedication to the kids and families of Dane County." He was presented in 2009 with the Ervin Bruner Award, given annually to someone in Dane County who has made "substantial contributions to juvenile justice" over their career. He was further honored by the SPD in receiving the Rubin Society Award in November 2014. In 2018, the Wisconsin Law Journal named him a "Leader in the Law." In 2025, he received Dane County's Stephen Blue Award for being "a leader on important issues within the Youth Justice Community." He has four times been named by Madison Magazine one of Dane County's top lawyers in the area of juvenile law. Representing children in both delinquency and protective services cases, as well as parents in termination-of-parental-rights cases, he has worked in the youth defense unit of the SPD's Madison trial office his entire career and has been the head of that unit since 2009.

Alex Hahn is a staff attorney for the Wisconsin State Public Defenders (SPD). He works in the Racine trial office and represents both youth in juvenile court and adults in criminal court. Alex served as a high school history teacher in Atlanta, Georgia, before law school, and is passionate about working with young people.

Abigail Hean, University of Wisconsin Law School 2021, is a staff attorney with the Wisconsin State Public Defenders' office in Madison. She focuses on youth and family defense and mental health cases.

Devon Lee started with the Wisconsin State Public Defenders (SPD) in 2001, representing youth in the Madison trial office. She transferred to the SPD's appellate division and later served in the SPD's administration as the agency's legal counsel. From 2020 to 2024 she worked as a child welfare attorney at the Wisconsin Department of Children and Families and is happy to be back as an assistant state public defender in the appellate division of the SPD.

Allison A. Markoski is an assistant state public defender in the Lancaster trial office. She represents clients in Iowa, Richland, Crawford, and Grant Counties.

Kate McStay has been an attorney in the Milwaukee youth and mental health office of the Wisconsin State Public Defenders since 2018. She represents children in delinquency and children-in-need-of-protection-or-services cases and parents in termination-of-parental-rights cases.

Nicole Ostrowski is a local attorney manager in the Waukesha County office of the Wisconsin State Public Defenders (SPD). She received her B.A. in sociology from Illinois Wesleyan University in 2011 and her J.D. from Marquette University Law School in 2015. Nicole has been recognized as an Emerging Leader in Youth Defense through the Department of Justice's Juvenile Rural Access to Training and Expertise Project (J-RATE), and was a 2024 participant in the Gault Center's Youth Defense Advocacy Program Summer Academy. Nicole previously worked as a staff attorney in the SPD's Winnebago County office.

Gillion Parham has been an assistant state public defender since 2016. She currently works in Waukesha County and specializes in youth law and criminal defense.
